A Weekend Market at theCommons for Women’s Entrepreneurship Day in Thailand

Connecting Founders is hosting a Weekend Market at theCommons Bangkok from 19-20 November 2016, to observe Women’s Entrepreneurship Day in Thailand. A variety of locally produced goods, fun activities and interesting workshops will be on offer during this event, to showcase Thailand’s businesswomen and their achievements. All companies that are at least 50% women-owned and managed. The market’s location, theCommons, a modern lifestyle mall, sets a great example as well. The highlight of market will be an early-evening event on November 19, where a speaker representing the United Nations will share insights about WED and the role businesswomen play in the world today. A successful local woman entrepreneur will then share her own experiences in a brief talk, before opening up for a round of questions. Connecting Founders aims to help businesswomen connect with each other and create more awareness for this topic in a light a fun way.
