Christmas Tree Charity Project

Christmas Tree Charity Project

Maison Berger Paris, the leader in innovative home fragrances from France, joins “Christmas Tree Charity Project” organized by the Anantara Siam Bangkok Hotel and proudly presents the Christmas tree under the concept of JOY DE VIVRE (Joy of Living), giving a refreshing and joyful feeling to the festive season. It was designed and created by Elizabeth Romhild, a Danish-Almanian designer who conveyed her idea through oil painting on the canvas with uniquely striking colors. The model is the Eiffel Tower, a symbol of France where the brand was originated. In addition, the decorations placed on each floor reflect the varied product ranges of Maison Berger Paris. The smell of the perfume reminds us of the legend of the Bible that the Three Wise Men are searching for a little prince according to the French belief. France is the center of perfume in Europe since the 14th century. The celebration for the joy of life at Christmas Eve is linked to the essence of the glory of France as reflected in one of the special aroma of Maison Berger Paris, “Elegant Parisian”
