BANGKOK—August 24, 2012 - Groupon (NASDAQ: GRPN), the pioneer and global market leader in local commerce, today announced its commitment towards bringing the e-commerce sector in Thailand to reach its full potential. At a press conference in Bangkok, the company celebrated Groupon's successful entry into its 48th country, Thailand.

According to the Ministry of Commerce, the value of online trading in Thailand has grown significantly in the past few years, reaching THB 1 trillion (USD 31.8 billion) in 2011. With more people having access to the Internet, the value is expected to grow by 20 per cent this year.

Boosting e-commerce in Thailand

"Groupon's expectations for Thailand are high. While many economies worldwide are slowing down, Thailand is moving forward and is well-prepared to play a vital role in the ASEAN Economic Community in 2015. With the growth of online access we also see the e-commerce business booming. Daily deals has been and will continue to be a catalyst for bringing more Thai businesses and consumers into the online world," said Trip Wagoner, President & Managing Director, Groupon Thailand. "Groupon is in a very strong position to provide the e-commerce sector in Thailand with a further boost. The flexibility of Groupon's business model provides the potential for partnership and value creation with a wide range of businesses. This allows us to reach out to many business partners and customers, ushering them into the era of e-commerce."

Adding value to local commerce in Thailand

Thailand plays an important role in Groupon's vision to become the world's operating system for local commerce.
