Join Khiri Travel for Educational Recycling Events in Bangkok on 17 May

Two free and educational community events in Bangkok on International Recycling Day will show you how to reduce, reuse, recycle, refuse, rethink, repair and respect

Khiri Travel is organising two community recycling and environmental education activities in and around Bangkok on 17 May from 4pm.

The activities are part of International Recycling Day, established by UNESCO. The effort is also in honour of Khiri Travel's 25th anniversary. The public are welcome to join.

The events are in Klong Toey and Baan Ratchawadee Ying school in Nonthaburi.

Ms Gili Back, the Khiri Travel Sustainability Manager and Executive Director of Khiri Reach, says: "On May 17th every year, International Recycling Day is celebrated, although it is something that we should participate in every day. How? By being consistent, treating waste effectively, protecting the environment and fighting climate change."

In order to help achieve this, Khiri Travel will be hosting special events, educational seminars and clean ups in seven countries across Asia. The two in Thailand are:
