MAGGIE CHOO’S presents THE PARKINSON BAND Live at Maggie Choo’s Thursday, 22nd June 2017

Bangkok, – Not to be confused with the malady, The Parkinson is an ultra talented Thai Pop Soul band performing at Maggie Choo’s on Thursday, June 22nd from 11pm to 1am. Inspired by its namesake disease, the band claims their music is so much fun you can’t help but move and groove along with the rhythm. Comprised of band members, Kan (Vocal/Guitar), Toh (Bass), and Beer (Drums), The Parkinson released their first single, ‘Cha Bok Ther Wa Rak’ (Gonna Tell You That I Love You), which became a top hit in every radio chart in Thailand once it was released. ‘Puen Rak’ (Dear Friend) released last year was on Seed FM Radio’s Top 20 chart. The band was also awarded Newface Artist of the Year and nominated for the Song of the Year. Mark your calendar, bring your date, and be ready to experience your muscles jerking out of control to the irresistible sounds of The Parkinson.
Before the show, DJ Dave Davini will warm up the night with his eclectic collection of Deep House, Jazz edits and Smooth Nu-Disco. Late night, DJ Kurrypup will take the slot, playing his unique collection of old and new party songs from various genres, Hip-Hop to House and everything in between.
