ZOOMING IN ON DELECTABLE DUTCH CUISINE

Rich, varied and colorful Dutch cuisine sparkles in the spotlight as Seasonal Tastes restaurant combines some of Holland's most appetizing menus with tips from a top photographer.

The 2nd annual "Culinary Dutch" festival of food and drink at The Westin Grande Sukhumvit, Bangkok's international dining restaurant unfolds from Wednesday, 13 September to Sunday, 17 September, 2017.

Vibrant breakfast, lunch and dinner buffet selections, plus an exquisite tasting menu, feature dishes created according to the inspired principles of Master Chef Albert Kooy, Founding Father of Dutch Cuisine.

But how to make it all as appealing on social media as it is to the palate? Easy: zoom in on the progressive professional techniques employed by the celebrated head of Thomas de Cian Photography and Fame Light Studios.

If you want your food shots to be as appealing on social media as they are to your taste buds, then combine a delicious Dutch-influenced breakfast, lunch or dinner with an exclusive workshop on Saturday 16, September 2017, where Thomas will show you how. You might even win a stay at Sheraton Hua Hin Resort & Spa.
